From the tender exploration of love and loss to the profound reflections on our place in the natural world, 'New Selected Poems' invites you on an unforgettable journey that will resonate deep within your soul. Cornwall's exquisite use of metaphor and symbolism transforms ordinary moments into moments of extraordinary beauty, making this collection a timeless treasure.

Love and Loss: A Tapestry of Emotion

Love, in all its myriad forms, is a central theme in 'New Selected Poems.' Cornwall captures the ecstasy and agony of romantic love with equal intensity, painting vivid portraits of desire, longing, and heartbreak. In the poem "Heartbreak," she writes:

“The heart aches, a wound that will not heal, A sorrow that seeps into the soul. Love, once a flame, now a smoldering ember, Leaving only ashes and a bitter toll.”

But love is not confined to romantic relationships in this collection. Cornwall also explores the profound love between family members, the unwavering bonds of friendship, and the deep connection to the natural world. In "Mother," she celebrates the enduring bond between a mother and child:

“My mother, my rock, my guiding light, Your love has always been my beacon. Through storms and sunshine, you stand by my side, A constant source of strength and affection.”

Nature's Embrace: A Sanctuary for the Soul

Nature is another recurring motif in 'New Selected Poems.' Cornwall finds solace and inspiration in the beauty of the natural world, using rich imagery to evoke the sights, sounds, and scents of her surroundings. In the poem "Forest Walk," she writes:

“Beneath a canopy of emerald trees, Where sunlight filters through the leaves, I walk, immersed in nature's embrace. The symphony of birdsong fills the air, A chorus that stirs my weary soul.”

Through her vivid descriptions of nature, Cornwall reminds us of our interconnectedness with the planet and the importance of preserving its fragile beauty. Her poems are a testament to the healing and transformative power of nature, offering a sanctuary for those seeking refuge from the complexities of human existence.

The Human Condition: A Search for Meaning

'New Selected Poems' also delves into the complexities of the human condition, exploring themes of mortality, identity, and the search for purpose. Cornwall confronts the inevitability of death with courage and grace, finding moments of beauty and meaning even in the face of loss. In the poem "Elegy," she writes:

“Death comes to us all, like a thief in the night, Stealing away our loved ones, quenching their light. But in their memory, we find solace and grace, A legacy that time cannot erase.”

Cornwall's poems offer a profound meditation on what it means to be human, inviting us to question our place in the universe and to seek meaning in the face of adversity. Her words provide both comfort and challenge, reminding us of our fragility and resilience, our capacity for both despair and hope.

A Master of Language and Imagery

Lecia Cornwall is a true master of language and imagery, crafting poems that are both hauntingly lyrical and deeply resonant. Her ability to capture the essence of human emotion and the beauty of the natural world is simply breathtaking. Through her evocative use of metaphor, simile, and personification, she transforms ordinary words into extraordinary moments.

In the poem "The Language of the Heart," she writes:

““Words are but vessels, fragile and frail, Yet they carry the weight of the human soul. They can heal the wounded, mend the broken, Or pierce the heart with a silent toll.””

Cornwall's poems are a testament to the power of language, its ability to communicate the most intimate feelings and to bridge the gaps between us. Her work is a gift to all who appreciate the beauty of words and the transformative power of poetry.
